

Decision of the dean on the rules of admission for the Master's Ecology programme for the academic year 2022/2023

In accordance with Sections 48 - 50 of Act 111/1998 Coll. On Higher Education Institutions and the Modifications and Amendments of Other Acts, I announce the rules of admission for entrance into the two-year Master's Ecology programme at the Faculty of Science, University of South Bohemia in České Budějovice (hereafter FSci USB) for the academic year 2022/2023.

1. Every applicant is to complete the application form available at https://wstag.jcu.cz/portal/studium/uchazec/eprihlaska.html?pc_lang=en, and attach motivational letter to the application by 18 May 2021. The applicant is also to deliver a Bachelor diploma or its certified¹ copy by 30 July 2022. The motivational letter should introduce the applicant, his/her previous experience in ecology, and describe their bachelor's research project(s), if any, on up to one A4 page. The application fee of 500 CZK (EUR 20) can be paid by card at the university website, or through bank transfer (account number: 10472 5778/0300, BIC: CEKOCZPP, IBAN: CZ20 0300 0000 0001 0472 5778, variable symbol - 6020106, specific symbol: the number of the electronic application form generated by the electronic registration system, payment note: full name). The bachelor diploma may be delivered in person, by post. Submission of a scanned copy of the diploma by e-mail is not sufficient, but it speeds up the necessary procedures.

In the event of vacancies remaining after the first call, a second call for applications for the academic year of 2022/2023 will be opened, with a deadline for application submissions of 31 October 2022, and bachelor diploma delivery of 3 February 2023.

2. The maximum of 20 applicants will be admitted to study in the academic year of 2022/2023.
3. The dean is to name an admission committee composed of 3-6 members of the academic staff and chaired by the Vice Dean for Study. In the first round, the applications and motivational letters are evaluated by the admission committee on the following aspects:

- research interests, experience, and plans,
- ability to communicate in English at a level sufficient for the study.

Each member of the committee is to evaluate each applicant's application and motivational letter on a scale of 0-10 points, the points are then to be averaged across all committee members. Applicants are to be ranked by score and 40 applicants with the highest score are then to be invited for the second round (interview). All applicants reaching the same score as the 40th applicant are also to be invited. Applicants scoring below 3 points are not to be admitted.

Applicants invited to the second round are to be interviewed via teleconferencing (e.g. Skype). The candidates to be interviewed are to be notified within one week after the application deadline and the date and time of their interview arranged with them.

During the interview the admission committee is to examine the:

- scope of ecological knowledge,
- research interests, experience, and plans,
- ability to communicate in English at a level sufficient for the study.

Each member of the committee is to evaluate each applicant's performance on a scale of 0-10 points, and the points are to be averaged across all committee members. Applicants are ranked by the score and 20 applicants with the highest score are admitted. All applicants reaching the same score as the 20th applicant are also to be admitted. Applicants scoring below 3 points are not to be admitted.

4. An applicant with special needs (with a disability, chronic illness, or other health problems) has the right to use the support measures and services provided by the university during the entrance examination and, if accepted, also during their study. If they wish to assert this claim, they must select the option YES in the column "Consideration of special needs" in the online application form. After fulfilling all the administrative requirements associated with the application for study, they will be contacted by the staff of the Support Centre for Students with Special Needs and acquainted with the next steps. More detailed information can be obtained on the centre's website (www.centrumssp.jcu.cz), by email (centrum-ssp@jcu.cz) or by telephone (00420 389 036 026). It is also possible to consult with the staff of the centre about the suitability of choice of a study programme before submitting an application for study.
5. Based on the recommendation of the admission committee, the dean is to decide and announce the admission or non-admission of the given applicant within three weeks of the examination in case the applicant delivered the Bachelor diploma before applicant's interview, otherwise within one week after diploma submission deadline. This information is to be passed on to the applicant by e-mail and post.

6. Eligible applicants are to hold an officially recognized BSc (Bachelor of Science) degree based on at least 3-year university study. Foreigners (of any nationality and citizenship) need to fulfil the conditions necessary for the study of foreign nationals at universities in the Czech Republic on the day of their enrolment at the latest.
7. Any applicant unable to attend the interviews for health reasons (confirmed by a physician within five days), or experiencing technical problems during the interview, will be given one additional interview date.
8. Unsuccessful applicants shall have the right to appeal to the Dean within 30 days of receiving the decision. If the appeal is rejected, the candidate may present it to the Rector of the University for a final decision. The appeal is to target paragraph 3 of this Decision, otherwise it is to be deemed to be without basis. In formulating the appeal, the applicant has the right to view the documentation of his admission process but does not have the right to see the documentation of other applicants or the committee protocols.
9. These conditions for admission were discussed and agreed upon by the Academic Senate of Faculty of Science, University of South Bohemia in České Budějovice on 17 January 2022.

České Budějovice, 17 January 2022
